1. VEB Sanar in Dessau, a plant producing plumbing and sanitation fixtures, has hired an additional 200 workers. However, almost the entire production of the plant has been changed over to supply aircraft parts and equipment to the Junkers factory. Production of gunner's turrets and aircraft cool-pits is under way. The Sanar sister plant in Dresden² is also producing materials for the aircraft industry.
2. In addition to Sanar, six other plants in Dessau have changed over their production and are also supplying parts to Junkers.
3. The East German Ministry of the Interior has opened an office in the Junkers works which has the task of supervising the entire production of the plant. Spott (fnu), who constructed the original Junkers plant, was to have been assigned the task of enlarging the plant. He is alleged to have fled to the West at some unspecified time in May 1953.
